Nishiseto Expressway, or Setouchi-Shimanami Kaido, which connects Hiroshima and Ehime prefectures, is recognized by many cycling enthusiasts as one of the best cycling courses in Japan. The region has a mild climate, the natural beauty of the archipelago, and attractive scenery created by a series of bridges and bicycle and pedestrian paths on each bridge. And in 2019, the Shimanami Kaido Cycling Road was designated by the government as a "National Cycle Route," a course that represents Japan and is proud to be recognized worldwide.

Then, an international cycling event, "Cycling Shimanami," was held to allow cyclists to ride on the main line of the expressway, which is in service and usually open only to cars. Thus, the image of the Setouchi Shimanami Kaido as a "sanctuary for cyclists" has been further established, and the Shimanami Kaido area is being promoted and revitalized by further expanding the number of people interacting in the area. This has helped to publicize the attractiveness of the Setouchi-Shimanami Kaido domestically and internationally.
